

THE STATUS OF WOMEN IN HEGEL'S
IDEALISM: A POSTMODERNIST
PHENOMENOLOGICO – ONTOLOGICAL
ANALYSIS

BY

OSUJI UCHEOMA

(069017016)

B.A. (HONS.), IMO STATE UNIVERSITY,
M.A. (UNIVERSITY OF IBADAN)

OCTOBER, 2013

THE STATUS OF WOMEN IN HEGEL’S IDEALISM: A
POSTMODERNIST PHENOMENOLOGICO – ONTOLOGICAL
ANALYSIS

BY

OSUJI UCHEOMA CHIZOBAM

(069017016)

B.A (HONS.) (IMO STATE UNIVERSITY, 2001)

M.A. (UNIVERSITY OF IBADAN, 2005)

A THESIS IN THE DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY SUBMITTED TO THE SCHOOL
OF POST GRADUATE STUDIES, UNIVERSITY OF LAGOS, IN FULFILLMENT OF THE
REQUIREMENTS FOR THE AWARD OF THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
(Ph.D.) IN PHILOSOPHY.

OCTOBER, 2013

APPROVAL

We certify that this doctoral thesis is a work of original research carried out by Ucheoma Chizobam Osuji in the Department of Philosophy, University of Lagos, under our supervision.

.....

Dr Chiedozie B. Okoro (Associate Professor)
Supervisor

.....

Professor Jim I. Unah
Supervisor

.....

Professor Muyiwa Falaiye
Head of Department

DECLARATION

I declare that this thesis is my original work in the Department of Philosophy,
University of Lagos.

.....

Ucheoma Chizobam Osuji

B.A (Hons.) IMSU 2001

M.A.IBADAN 2005.

DEDICATION

This Thesis is dedicated to God Almighty, in utmost gratitude for the gift of Womanhood.

To all women who have made impact in history, but whose contributions were not acknowledged.

To all Nigerian women who lost their lives in child-bearing, agony of marriage and cultural practices imposed on them by their societies.

To my parents; sir Martins and Lady Kate Osuji; my sisters, Ifunanya and Ugochi; my daughters, Nneoma and Ijeoma Oparah and their generations.

To my husband, Peter-Claver Oparah, and my sons, Uchenna and Ugonna who were born within the period of my doctoral research at the University of Lagos.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my profound gratitude to all who have made my dream come true. I am grateful to my lecturers at Department of Philosophy, University of Lagos Akoka, for their lectures, helpful comments and suggestions during my studies at the Department. First my thanks goes to all the Professors at the department: Professor Muiyiwa Falaiye, for his encouragement and his exciting lectures and challenging arguments in class; Professor F. N. Ndubuisi, for always being there for us, his students. My special thanks to Professor Azenabor and Dr. Douglas Anele for their help in identifying and correcting errors. This immensely helped me to move many miles in this research work. I wish to thank in a special way Dr. Chigbo Ekwealo for being my motivator in moments of low-spiritedness, his advice, encouragement and providing a brotherly guidance. Dr. (Mrs) Kehinde is not left out; thanks for being generous with your knowledge, books and comments. I also wish to thanks Drs. O. M. Ogbinaka, A.O. Okeregbe and Chris T. Osegenwune, S. B. Jegede, P. I. Oni, M .N. Onyeaghalaji, for their comments and suggestions. My thanks also go to other teaching staff of the department in the person of Ms. Pat Agboro, Mrs. P Egbe, Mr. Gbadebo, Mr. D.A. Ekere. Mr. P. Osimiri. My thanks also go to the administrative staff of the Department of Philosophy, University of Lagos.

I am especially indebted to my supervisors; To Dr. Chiedozi Okoro (Associate Professor) for his time and for painstakingly going through the work and for generously sharing his wealth of experience; more so for his encouragement in moments of low-spiritedness while this study lasted. I sincerely thank him for his indefatigable efforts in broadening my intellectual scope, strengthening and deepening my philosophical roots. Furthermore, I very well appreciate other intellectual seed you sown in me during this study. I cannot thank you enough for your comments, arguments and suggestions; they were of immense help in pushing my thesis forward. I also acknowledge my debt to my second supervisor, Professor Jim I. Unah, for his versatile intellectual mentoring and for allowing me share in his professorial experience.

For every successful stage in life, there must be a story. I wish to express my gratitude to my lecturers at Imo State University; especially Rev. Fr. Professor E. E. Amaku, for going through the work: his mails and phone calls also encouraged me. My thanks to Rev Fr. Professors P. Ogonna, George Ekwuru and J. Okonkwo for their tutelage while I was at Imo State University, Owerri. I am also grateful to my lecturers at University of Ibadan, most especially Professor Tunji Oyeshile for his comments and suggestions after going through the work. His constant advice and encouragement are well treasured. My deserved appreciation also goes to Dr. Agulanna and Professor Irele under whose tutelage I was at University of Ibadan.

I owe profound gratitude to my husband, Peter-Claver Oparah for always being there for me. I appreciate your encouragement, care, love, support all through the programme and also for his patience as the period of this study lasted. I also wish to appreciate your editorial assistance and your every effort to make sure this programme came to an end. I pray to God to keep you for me, thanks for everything.

Furthermore, I am especially grateful to my Father, Sir Martins Osuji for his support and prayers and my mother for her encouragement. Not only that but for having to lay the foundation I am building on now. My thanks also go to my friends who have assisted me during this programme. Among them are: Mrs Gloria Osuagwu, Ijeoma Nwaoku, Nkechi Duruoha, Barrister Ngozi Eke, Genevieve Oparah, Bright Nwaogu, Alex Nwogu, Adaeze Enwere, Mrs Joe Ewuzie, my cousins: Victor Nguma and Oluebube Ubakaibeya, My brother, Chukwuemeka and sister Ify are not left out. I also owe lots of thanks to all who have sincerely wished me well but whose names may not be listed here. However, I wish to mention Reverend Father Vincent Udoe, Brother Ikenna Ohia and Evangelist Tony. My special thanks to my younger sister Ugochi Osuji for always filling in the domestic gap in the cause of the research. I appreciate all you have done for me. My special thanks also to the proprietor and the staff of Twinsland International School, especially Mummy Funmi, for their assistance in taking care of my children in some special days of busy schedule.

Most of all, I wish to thank my children Nneoma, Ijeoma, Uchenna and Ugonna for their understanding, patience and having to endure moments of lack of motherly love while this study lasted.

Osuji Ucheoma Chizobam

October, 2013

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Title Page	i
Certification	ii
Dedication	iii
Acknowledgement	iv
Declaration	v
Table of Contents	vi
Abstract	1
Introduction	2
0.1 Introduction and Background of the Study	2
0.1,1 Statement of Problem of Research	5
0.1,2 Aims and Objectives of the Research	8
0.1,3 Significance of the Study	9
0.1,4 Scope and Limitation of Study	9
0.1,5 Research Questions	11
0.1,6 Operational Definition of terms	11
0.1,7 Theoretical Framework	13
0.2 Literature Review	14
0.3 Methodology	29
 CHAPTER ONE: HEGEL; BACKGROUND AND PHILOSOPHICAL POSTULATIONS
Introduction	31
1.1 The Man Hegel	32
1.2 The philosophy of Hegel	33
1.3 The Works of Hegel	34

1.4	His Philosophic Aim	38
1.5	Hegel's Philosophic Influences	39
1.6	Hegel's Notion of the Absolute Spirit	40
	1.6,1 Criticism of Absolute Spirit in Hegel	42
1.7	Dialectics: Hegel's Philosophical Methodology	43
	1.7,1 The Idea of Dialectics in Hegel's Philosophy	43
	1.7,2 Criticisms of Hegel's Dialectics	47
	1.7,3 An Analysis and Evaluation of Hegel's Dialectics	49
	Highlights	51
CHAPTER TWO: AN EXPOSITORY TO HEGEL'S IDEALISM
	Introduction	53
2.1	Consciousness, Understanding and the Self- Conscious in Hegel's Idealism	56
	2.1,1 Sense Certainty and the Incompleteness of the Particular	56
	2.1,2 Perceptual Consciousness and Truth	58
	2.1,3 Perceptual Consciousness and Scientific Understanding	63
2.2	Truth and Certainty of Reason	69
	2.2,1, Observation as the Process of Reason	70
	2.2,2 Observation of Nature	71
	2.2,3 Observation of Organic Nature	73
2.3	Self-Consciousness as a Social Dialectics	76
	2.3,1 The Dialectics of Recognition and the Master-Slave Relation	77
	2.3,2 Hegel and the Problem of the Other	80
2.4	Reason as Progress towards Consciousness of Freedom	84
	2.4,1 Hegel on the Manifestation of Reason in History	84
	2.4,2 Reason as the Basis of freedom in History	86

2.4,3 The Phenomenology of Freedom	87
2.4,4 Freedom as the Cause of World History	89
2.5 Freedom as the Truth of the Spirit	91
2.6 The State, Ethical Consciousness and the Question of Freedom	92
2.7 The Significance of Hegel's Phenomenology	96
Highlights	104
CHAPTER THREE: THE STATUS OF WOMEN IN HEGEL'S IDEALISM: A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS
Introduction	106
3.1 The status of women in classical philosophy before Hegel	106
3.1,1 The Status of Women in Traditional Societies	106
3.1,2 Some Ancient Greek Philosophers' view on Women	109
3.1, 3 Women as seen by Medieval Philosophers	112
3.1, 4 Women as seen by Modern Philosophers	117
3.2 The status of women in Hegel's Idealism	122
3.2,1 Hegel's Phenomenology of the Woman	122
3.2,2 Hegel on the place of the Woman in the Family and State	125
3.3 An Analysis of the Status of Women in the History of Idealism	131
3.4 The Maleness of Philosophy and the Absence of Women in Classical Western Philosophy	134
3.5 Gender and the Philosophical Assessment of Classical Western Philosophy	137
3.6 The Problems and Limitations of Classical Western Philosophy	143
Highlights	154

CHAPTER FOUR: TOWARDS A POSTMODERNIST PHENOMENOLOGICO – ONTOLOGICAL DECONSTRUCTION OF HEGEL

Introduction	155
4.1 Postmodernist Notion of Reality	159
4.2 Hegel in the Eyes of Postmodern Thinkers	167
4.3 The Polarity in Hegel’s Idealism: A Postmodernist Phenomenologico – Ontological Analysis	178
4.4 The Paradigm Shift: From Subjectivity to Intersubjectivity	183
4.5 The Phenomenology of the Spirit versus the Phenomenology of the Woman; De Beauvoir and Hegel on the context	186
4.5,1 The woman / the Sexed as the Object of Phenomenological Investigation	187
4.6 Foucault on the Pluralist Interpretation of Knowledge (History)	194
4.7 Postmodernist and the Pluralist / Humanist Interpretation of Reason as the basis of Women’s Transcendence	197
4.7,1 Reason as basis for Women Liberation	198
4.7,2 Reason as the Basis for the Ideological Origins of Philosophical Feminism ...	203
4.7,3 Reason as the Foundation for Politics and Morality	205
4.8 Postmodernist Phenomenologico – Ontology and the Deconstruction of the other: Towards a Foundation for Feminist Phenomenology	207
4.8,1 The Phenomenology of Women Rationality in Philosophy	209
4.8,2 The Philosophical Status of Women’s Biology in Philosophy	212
4.8,3 The Epistemological Basis of Women’s Biology	221
Highlights	222

CHAPTER FIVE: POSTMODERN APPRAISAL OF WOMEN IN CONTEMPORARY ERA: IMPLICATIONS FOR THE NIGERIAN WOMEN

Introduction	222
5.1 The Nigerian Women Today: the Clash Between Traditional and Modern Values	222
5.1,1 The Traditional society and the Place of women in an African Culture	222
5.1,2, Clash of Cultures: its Effects on Women	227
5.2 The Complementarity of Sexes: The Traditional Metaphysics of Harmon	228
5.3 Dualism and Gender; An African Philosophic Deconstruction of Patriarchy	230
5.4 The Synergy Between Postmodernism and African Ontology of Knowledge ...	232
5.5 Women as Persons; Towards Integrative Metaphysics	233
5.6 Dissensus: Promoting Communication and Dialogue on Gender	235
5.7 Developing a new Orientation to women in philosophy	241
5.8 A Postmodernist Phenomenologico-Ontological Application of intersubjectivity on Women and Socio-political Order in Our Contemporary society	243
5.8,1 Re-orientations on Gender Tolerance, Equality and Difference	243
5.8,2 Postmodernist Position on the Place of Women in the Contemporary Society	245
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION
Summary	254
Textual Analysis and Findings of the research	257
Conclusion	262
Recommendations	264
Contribution to Knowledge	266
References	267